

Crisis MT Workshop Proceedings

The Crisis MT Workshop was organised by the INTERACT project¹, which is a project that received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 Research and Innovation Programme under the Marie Skłodowska Curie grant agreement No 734211.

The Crisis MT Workshop was a pre-conference Workshop at the MT Summit 2019:
<https://www.mtsummit2019.com>

Agenda and Contributors

The following was the agenda for the Workshop:

9.00-9.15: Prof. Sharon O'Brien, Coordinator, Dublin City University:
Introduction to the H2020 INTERACT project (See file 2-Crisis MT Workshop_O'Brien_Intro.pdf)

9.15-10.00: Invited Talk: Mirko Plitt, Head of Technology, Translators without Borders:
The Growing Importance of Translation Tools in Crisis Response (See file 3-Crisis MT Workshop_Plitt.pdf)

10.00-10.45: Invited Talk: Eric DeLuca (Monitoring, Evaluation and Learning Manager, Translators without Borders):
More than Tweets: Understanding the Diversity of Crisis Translation Use Cases (See file 4-Crisis MT Workshop_DeLuca.pdf)

11.00-11.30: Dr Carla Parra Escartín and Dr Helena Moniz (Unbabel):
Ethical Considerations on the Use of Machine Translation and Crowdsourcing in Crises (See file 5-Crisis MT Workshop_Escartin_Moniz.pdf)

11.30-12.00: Dr Antoni Oliver (Universitat Oberta de Catalunya), Dr María del Mar Sánchez Ramos (Universidad de Alcalá), and Dr Celia Rico (Universidad Europea de Madrid):
Building Offline, Compact, Ready to Use MT Systems for Crisis Translation (See file 6-Crisis MT Workshop_Oliver et al.pdf)

12.00-12.30: Prof. Sharon O'Brien (Dublin City University), Dr Nataša Pavlović (University of Zagreb), and Dr Patrick Cadwell:
Post-editing 101 Course for Crisis Machine Translation (See file 7-Crisis MT Workshop_O'Brien_2.pdf)

¹ For further information on the full INTERACT project see:
<https://sites.google.com/view/crisistranslation/home>